Senate Group Completes Work On Farm Bill

Aiken to Lead
Floor Fight Against Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Agriculture Committee finished work today on a general farm bill loaded with anti-administration features.

Chairman George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) expects debate on the measure, one of the Senate's last two big bills of the session, to begin next Thursday and end in two or three days.

Aiken, who fought a losing battle for the administration cause in committee, said if the basic crop and dairy price support sections are not changed "we won't get any legislation and the (farm bloc) boys are going to go home with 75 per cent of parity supports."

This referred to the fact that flexible price supports of 75 to 90 per cent of parity become effective for basic commodities Jan. 1 unless President Eisenhower signs new legislation providing otherwise. Aiken has indicated that Mr. Eisenhower will veto any farm legislation which runs counter to his and Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson's price support views.

Vote Bill by 11-2
The Senate committee voted 11-2 with Sens. Clinton P. Anderson (D-N.M.) and John J. Williams (R-Del.) dissenting — to report the bill after agreeing on these final provisions:

1. Addition of 700,000 to 800,000 acres to the national wheat acreage allotment for 1955. This would be an addition to the 55-million-acre national quota already proclaimed and would be divided mainly among farmers in Kansas, Colorado, North Dakota and Oregon. Only farmers who planted less than 640 acres of wheat in 1952 and 1953 could receive apportionment from this bonus acreage.

2. Corn acreage allotments will be determined on the basis of average plantings in the five years immediately past, instead of 10 years immediately past as at present.

3. Long staple cotton supports could be lowered to the minimum authorized support level.

Add Potatoes to List
4. Irish and sweet potatoes were added to the commodities — pears, peaches and citrus — previously made eligible for price-fixing federal marketing agreements. These agreements would cover only produce intended for canning or freezing.

The bill is due for debate on the Senate floor next week. Aiken said he would file a minority report on the measure and will take charge of the floor fight against it.

Bitter debate loomed largely around two major farm price sections:

1. A proposal to continue supports for one year at 90 per cent of "fair price" parity on cotton, corn, wheat, peanuts and rice.

2. A proposal to raise dairy price supports from 75 per cent of parity to 85 per cent for one year, effective Sept. 1.

Senate Proposal Calls for Consultation with Congress On Foreign Policy Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans and Democrats rallied behind a watered-down Senate proposal today calling on President Eisenhower to consult with Congress on foreign policy changes if Red China wins a United Nations seat.

The proposed policy statement, sponsored by Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland, apparently was designed to head off a possible split between Congress and the President on U. S. action if the Reds gain U. N. membership.

Knowland claimed "overwhelming" support from both parties for the proposal which was tentatively approved by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday. There was no sign of Democratic opposition and key Democrats had a backstage hand in drafting the proposal.

President Not Committed Informed sources said the administration would not oppose the mildly-worded policy statement. It would not commit the President or the nation to any specific action.

The proposal marked a big retreat for Knowland. He had predicted last week that Congress would cut off financial support to the U. N. if it admits Red China. And he had promised to resign his leadership post and campaign to lead the United States out of the world body if the Communists get in.

A House Foreign Affairs Subcommittee, meanwhile, scheduled hearings on another and similar proposal dealing with the possible admission of Chinese Reds. Sponsored by Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich.), the resolution calls for a "reevaluation" of U. S. policies if it is overridden in the U. N. on the Chinese issue.

Knowland's proposal, besides restating congressional opposition to seating the Communists, merely asks the President to confer with Congress and recommend changes in foreign policy if they get in the world body.

Duty To Give Notice
Bentley, in a statement prepared for the House subcommittee, noted that the U. N. General Assembly is scheduled to meet in New York Sept. 21 and said:

"I think that it is the duty of Congress to give notice to those countries who might be inclined to press for Red Chinese admission to the United Nations this fall that the United States would regard such a step with the utmost gravity."

Bentley said he did "not necessarily agree" with suggestions that this country pull out of the U. N. if Red China is admitted.

He said his resolution would serve notice on other nations that "a change could be expected if the Red Chinese come in. And any nation which then voted for Red Chinese admission would then do so in full awareness of the consequences of such action."

Release Names Of Seven GIs
Seized by Czechs
WALDHAM, Germany (AP) — Czechoslovakia apparently is holding seven Americans, who wandered across the West German frontier into Red Czechoslovakia, American authorities said today that negotiations for their release probably will be "protracted."

Hopes for a quick return of the six enlisted men and an Army captain collapsed Thursday when Czech officials failed to keep an appointment for a "low level" conference. The seven have been held since July 4.

In Heidelberg, U. S. Army headquarters today released the names of the seven captured men. They are: Capt. Jack M. Davis, Raytown, Mo.; Pfc. Leonard D. Tenris, Alliance, Ohio; Pvt. Richard J. Jump, Booneville, Mo.; Pfc. George E. Switzer, Millburn, Neb.; Cpl. John F. Glasson, Oakdale, Calif.; Pfc. Jerry W. Griffith, Springfield, Ohio; and Pvt. Ross F. McGinnis, Greensburg, Pa.

Truman is Dismissed From Hospital
KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman was dismissed today from Research Hospital here.

Mr. Truman, who suffered a setback that put him on the critical list for several days, had made a "remarkable" recovery.

He had been operated on June 10 to remove a gangrenous gall bladder and an infected appendix.

Carrier Mills Lions Receive Good
Response to Appeal

The Carrier Mills Lions club received a very gratifying response to an appeal made for help in clearing a five acre tract of ground, which is the club's new community park project.

Thirty men, representing a cross section of the citizenry, came out with tools and enough headway was made that almost an acre which was practically a wilderness of underbrush and fallen tree tops was cleared.

Another session of clearing is to be held next Tuesday, July 13, and the third one on Thursday, July 15, when the volunteers working this week were asked to come back and bring a "buddy."

Six years ago the timber was cut over on this five acre tract and fallen tree tops were among the brush which has to be cut up and moved.

It is an operation requiring a great deal of labor, but is looked upon as a chance to unite the community in a project which will be a recreation asset to the town and a joy to all ages. With united efforts, much can be accomplished, and the Lions club goal to create a community park will be accomplished.

Cannot Ignore Demo Blunders, Ferguson Says

Republican Senator Replies to Democratic Complaints

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Homer Ferguson (R-Mich.) said today the Eisenhower administration wants a bipartisan foreign policy but it would be "senseless" to ignore past Democratic blunders.

As chairman of the Senate GOP Policy committee and a member of the foreign relations committee, Ferguson issued a statement replying to Democrats who have been stung by Republican charges.

He said he felt compelled to recognize the "complaints by certain Democratic leaders concerning Republican criticism of Asiatic foreign policy as practiced by Secretary of State Dean Acheson during the Truman administration."

Ferguson said Vice President Richard M. Nixon had given the GOP's "reasoned view" of the Democratic policy in a Milwaukee, Wis., speech June 26. It was that speech which ruled many Democrats.

Ferguson said the Free World probably hangs in the balance in current delicate diplomacy and that mistakes must not be made. "Therefore," Ferguson said, "it becomes a matter of utmost importance to look back carefully and discover where United States foreign policy went wrong in the past. In this, we are not questioning the motives of our predecessor administration's foreign relations, but the methods and, of course, the sorry results."

"In seven short years, such policies contributed to the loss of 600 million persons to communism, helped lead us inexorably into the Korean War and encouraged Red China to fan the flames of the Indochina conflict."

Ferguson described as "wholly untrue" Democratic statements that bipartisan foreign policy is being jeopardized by what he called "blatant criticism of past blunders."

"Instead, it would be a senseless, ostrich attitude to ignore yesterday's failures in the light of today's terrible challenge," he said. "Unless we do keep those errors firmly in mind, we are apt to fall into the same global trap, so cleverly baited by Communists who talk peaceful co-existence but who give no factual evidence of good faith."

Laid Down Year Ago
He said that more than a year ago Mr. Eisenhower "laid down the principle from which we must never depart."

"In effect he said that if the Russians want peaceful settlement of differences, let them demonstrate their good intentions by executing and living up to certain agreements first."

"There is a policy that will never permit any aggressor nation—and I include Red China—to blast its way into the United Nations."

Rep. Martin Criticizes Talk of 'Peaceful Co-Existence' with Russia

NEW YORK (AP) — House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, Jr., said today President Eisenhower has laid down a policy which will never permit Red China or any other aggressor nation "to blast its way into the United Nations."

In an address prepared for delivery before the Lions Clubs international convention here, Martin also criticized talk of "peaceful co-existence" with Russia as long as the Soviets fail to live up to their agreements.

"It is very well to talk about 'trying once more,' peaceful co-existence, and sitting down again at the conference table," Martin said, "but we have gone to too many conferences in the past, with nothing more than a calkskin brief case, a bottle of ink and a pious hope, not to have learned our lesson by now."

Approve 'Tight' Budget for SIU
CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — With full enrollment expected to exceed the 25 per cent increase of last spring, Southern Illinois University faces one of the tightest budgets in its 80-year history. SIU President D. W. Morris said today.

An internal budget of $4,643,000 approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees reflects cutbacks in operating funds for most of the university's departments and services.

Board Chairman John P. Wham described the budget as "stringent" and said some economies were necessary "because of the rapid enrollment increase and increased demands for services despite a leveling off of income."

There were no general salary increases and few adjustments because of changed status.

SIU's full-time enrollment last year was 3,736 and it is expected the 1954-55 enrollment will reach 4,301.

Trustees Approve
Two New Faculty Members for SIU
CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Two new faculty members for the Southern Illinois University Agriculture Department were approved Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

Dr. Lee R. Kolmer, 26, was named assistant professor of agricultural marketing effective July 1.

Dr. William G. Kammlake Jr., 29, was named associate professor of animal husbandry effective Sept. 1.

Kolmer, a 1951 honor graduate of SIU's agriculture department, is a native of Waterloo, Ill. He comes to SIU from Iowa State College where he served as associate in dairy marketing and extension while completing work on his doctor's degree.

Kammlake, a native of Champaign, has been an assistant professor at Texas A&M College where he headed the sheep and wool division. His father, W. G. Kammlake, Sr., is associate director of extension service in agriculture and home economics in the University of Illinois College of Agriculture.

McCarthy Puts Himself Above Law: Brownell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell, Jr. charged last night that Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy put himself "above the law" by urging federal employees to bring him secret information in face of a presidential ban.

Brownell said the nation would be threatened with anarchy if any such practice became "widespread" and would endanger many of the nation's "top secrets."

McCarthy made the appeal to federal workers during the recent Senate investigation of the Wisconsin Republican's dispute with the Army.

At that time, the White House denounced McCarthy's appeal as an unconstitutional attempt to usurp presidential powers.

Brownell pointed out that the presidential directive forbidding federal employees to give unauthorized persons material stamped secret is reinforced by federal law.

Asked about the possibility of perjury in the Army-McCarthy hearings, Brownell said the entire transcript has been turned over to the Justice Department and "we're reviewing it carefully."

Strikers Await Report by Board

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Some 4,500 striking CIO atomic workers at plants here and Paducah, Ky., today awaited results of a hearing by a special presidential board that might provide an 80-day respite in the walkout over wages.

President Eisenhower's special three-man board of inquiry could obtain a court injunction for the "cooling off" period under the Taft-Hartley Act if it finds the strike is a threat to national safety.

Striking union members watched closely the board's hearing in Washington with union and company representatives.

Meanwhile, the head of the striking gas, coke and chemical workers group scoffed at promises of some 120 technicians and supervisory personnel to keep the plant here operating with "full and maximum production."

Emerson Pownall, president of Local 288 of the striking CIO union, warned "a lot of things could go wrong" while the plant was being operated by the supervisory employees.

The supervisory personnel put up beds inside the buildings here and are on duty 24 hours a day to keep production as high as possible and prevent the expensive machinery from being damaged while idled.

Pigeonhole Defense
Dep't Pay Plan
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has buried a study recommending "substantial" pay raises for generals and admirals but only minor increases for enlisted men and other officers.

Asst. Defense Secretary John A. Hannah said Thursday the report was pigeonholed because it might damage the morale of enlisted men when efforts are underway to attract capable men into the armed forces.

Seek to Head Off Injunction Under T-H Law

Presidential Board Expects to Make Report Soon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Informed sources said today that "considerable progress has been made" toward settlement of a three-day-old strike at the Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Paducah, Ky., atomic energy plants.

These sources said determined efforts are being made by high CIO and federal officials to achieve a settlement forestalling government use of the Taft-Hartley Act's strike-stopping injunction procedure.

The "considerable progress" these sources reported was made at a secret meeting which started at 10 p. m. Thursday night and ended at 3 a. m. today.

Participating were Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, CIO President Walter Reuther, and officials of the striking CIO Gas, Coke, and Chemical Workers Union.

It was said that any settlement would be made through the presidential emergency board now holding closed door hearings here as the necessary first step toward government anti-strike injunction action.

There was a possibility that fast action by the fact-finding board would enable the government to obtain a court order late today or tomorrow to end the walkout for 80 days.

Under Taft-Hartley Labor Law machinery, President Eisenhower must first get a report from the board before seeking an anti-strike injunction.

The board was appointed by the President yesterday, and began hearings into the dispute.

Report Due Tomorrow
Board chairman Thomas Keith Glennan, who labeled the walkout "a matter of extreme urgency," said he hopes the board can conclude its hearings today and submit its report to the President no later than tomorrow.

Glennan is a former member of the AEC and is now president of the Case Institute of Technology of Cleveland.

Supervisory workers are keeping the two plants in operation despite the strike and government officials believe the injunction will be issued before the plants are forced to shut down.

The CIO workers left their jobs at the big gaseous diffusion plants Wednesday in a wage dispute. Officials said technical and supervisory employees would maintain "maximum production" of U-235 which is used to make atomic bombs.

Mr. Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley Law in the dispute after the workers spurned his appeal to stay on the job in the interest of national security.

The strikers are demanding a 15-cent hourly wage increase. Union Carbide and Chemical Corp., which operates the plants for the Atomic Energy Commission, has refused to grant more than the six cents recommended by the government's atomic labor relations panel.

Under the Taft-Hartley Law, the board must decide whether the dispute is endangering the nation's health, safety or welfare. If the answer is yes the Justice Department can seek a strike-halting injunction.

A 60-day "cooling off" period the workers would be given a chance to vote on management's last offer. If they reject the offer they are free to renew their walkout after the full 80-day period is up.

Believe Cease-Fire is Near
In Indochina

PARIS (AP) — The National Assembly scheduled a recess today until July 20, the date on which Premier Pierre Mendes-France has pledged to resign if there is no cease-fire in Indochina.

There was growing belief in the French capital that Mendes-France had an Indochina cease-fire inside his grasp.

These sources felt the Communists have definitely decided to end the almost eight-year-old war.

French sources said heavy pressure was put on Chinese Communist Premier Chou En-Lai by both Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru and Burma's Prime Minister U. Nu.

It was disclosed yesterday that Mendes-France will meet Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov during the week-end at Geneva before top-level negotiations on Indochina resume next week.

Mendes-France has 12 days to go on his pledge to end the Indochina war or resign.

OPPENHEIMER BAN NECESSARY

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
It came as something of a surprise that the Atomic Energy Commission was tougher than the Gray Security Board in its verdict denying security clearance to Dr. J.
Robert Oppenheimer, leading atomic scientist.

The Gray Board found Oppenheimer a loyal citizen, extremely discreet in preserving his country's most vital secrets, but nevertheless a "security risk."

It reached that conclusion on the ground that he had continued his admittedly well-known Communist associations into recent times, that he had been less than candid in discussing these contacts with security officials, and that his conduct in relation to the government's hydrogen bomb program had been "disturbing." Oppenheimer opposed the H-bomb on technical, political and moral grounds.

The AEC did not mention the H-bomb affair. By a 4 to 1 margin they declared him a security risk because they found "proof of fundamental defects in his character," and because they felt his links with known Communists "extended far beyond the tolerable limits of prudence and self-restraint."

Three of the four commissioners in the majority were silent on the subject of Oppenheimer's loyalty.
The fourth, Thomas E. Murray, asserted his belief that the scientist was "disloyal." The lone dissenter, Dr. Henry D. Smyth, agreed with the Gray Board that Oppenheimer was completely loyal.

What do these findings mean?
They appear to mean that, with the exception of Murray, the AEC brushed aside the argument that Oppenheimer was a security risk because he gave what seems now to have been bad advice on the H-bomb.

They mean also that, again with the exception of Murray, the AEC raised no positive question about the scientist's loyalty.

Thus the AEC in the end rested its whole case against him on the conviction that he several times spoke falsely in discussing his Communist associations, and that in maintaining some of these links almost up to this time, the scientist showed a serious disregard for the country's established security system.

In other words, the AEC said in effect he could not be trusted because he insisted upon being his own judge of proper security.

For example, in 1953 Oppenheimer visited in Paris one Haakon Chevalier who had once tried unsuccessfully to get A-bomb secrets from him. The scientist was not sure Chevalier was not a Red. He took the chance he might have been forced to go behind the Iron Curtain.

To Dr. Smyth, the commission dissenter, neither the alleged flaws in Oppenheimer's character nor his Red associations were decisive. He regarded them as important only as they bear on the prospect that secret data will be improperly revealed. Said he:

"In my opinion, the most important evidence in this regard is the fact that there is no indication in the entire record that Dr. Oppenheimer has ever divulged any secret information."

We live in a time when the taking of any risk with our vital secrets could be fatal to us as a nation. Viewed against this backdrop, the commission's decision, founded on the single ground of whether Oppenheimer is trustworthy in his dealings with men and government rules, was perhaps the only one possible.

Dealers' Complaints Bring Investigators to Auto Row

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — take have worked hardships on Sweeping changes in the $20-billion-a-year automobile industry trade practices may be in the making from an investigation by the antitrust division of the Department of Justice.

First steps in this reform have already been taken. It will be many months before the business surveys are completed, however.
Ultimately it is possible new legislation will be asked for to regulate what has become one of America's largest industries.

The automobile industry has always been under the eye of government agencies like Treasury, Justice and Federal Trade Commission. But an increasing number of complaints from automobile dealers themselves in the past year has stepped up anti-trust division investigation.

In general, the dealers complain that they have been put under increasing pressure by the manufacturers during the business recession in which car sales have been down.

JUDGE STANLEY N. BARNES, assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, says his investigation now covers seven different fields of automobile industry trade practices.

He stops there. He will not disclose what the seven fields are,
but he does say that no one manufacturer is involved in all seven fields.

The scope of this investigation is fairly obvious to anyone who has been at all aware of what has been going on in Auto Row during the past year or so.

General Motors today has approximately 45 per cent of the business and Ford has about 32 per cent.

The rivalry between these two-row controlling over three fourths of the business—for still greater supremacy has made competition from smaller companies extremely difficult. Though there are now 18 makes of cars, General Motors has five, Chrysler four, Ford three, Kaiser and Willys have merged. Nash and Hudson have merged. And the Packard-Studebaker merger wipes out the last two independents.

IN THIS PROCESS the control of the manufacturers over the distributors has become much tighter.

While it is recognized that the manufacturers have to sell cars to keep going, attempts to force

Sen. Capehart to Ask More Funds In Housing Probe

WASHINGTON — Sen. Homer
E. Capehart said today that federal housing scandals have turned out to be "almost staggering" and predicted it will take "at least" $500,000 more to investigate them properly.

The Indiana Republican plans to ask the Senate next week for additional funds to expand his Senate Banking Committee's inquiry to include possible abuses in the government's slum clearance, military and cooperative housing programs.

Capehart made the statement as Senate and House conferees sidestepped an immediate showdown in their battle over President Eisenhower's public housing program.

The conference group had planned to complete work on the administration's housing bill by this weekend. But Capehart announced late Thursday that several "knotty problems," including the public housing issue, remain to be ironed out.

He predicted that agreement would not be reached before next Wednesday. The House has voted to halt any new public housing starts, but the Senate has approved the President's request to build 240,000 units during the next four years.

The Senate already has given the Banking Committee $150,000 to investigate the housing scandals. The group has been centering its attention on the defunct apartment construction program under which apartment builders reaped millions in "windfall" profits.

But Capehart said the scandals now appear to be so "far reaching" that the inquiry "will necessarily be much more extensive than first anticipated." Public hearings will resume Monday.

Actress Makes Night Club Debut In Shocking Dress

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Film actress Terry Moore made her big-night in the "most shocking" dress seen in Las Vegas since Marlene Dietrich's eye-opener of last winter.

Miss Moore appeared at the end of her opening act at the Flamingo Hotel in a black-beaded dress, slit to about halfway above her knee.
The low-cut top was made of transparent soufflé.

The $3,500 dress drew a gasp
from the audience.
Miss Dietrich's dress was cut along similar lines, and had the same sort of transparent top. It won her nationwide attention.

Miss Moore, whose white fur bathing suit caused a controversy during a visit to Korea, said she was not trying to outdo Miss Dietrich.

"I wore it only at the end of the show because I was so embarrassed," she said. "They wanted me to wear my fur bathing suit, but that would have been in bad taste."

Monks were the timekeepers of the Middle Ages, and monastery bells told the time to all living within their range.

TWO FEATURES AT GRAND—Dan Duryea gets the drop on John Payne in this scene from "Silver Lode," in color, to show at the Grand Friday and Saturday. Johnny Weissmuller in "Jungle Man Eaters" will also be on the program.

RUPTURE

Expert Coming Here Again.

R. K. SHALLENBERGER

Nationally known expert will personally demonstrate his method without charge at the Horning Hotel, Harrisburg, Tuesday evening, July 13th, from 4:30 p. m. to 8 p. m.

Mr. Shallenberger says the Shallenberger method contracts the openings in remarkably short time on the average case, regardless of the size or location of the rupture and no matter how much you lift or strain, and puts you back to work the same day as efficient as before you were ruptured.

The Shallenberger Rupture Shield has no leg strap; water proof, sanitary, practically indestructible and can be worn while bathing. Each shield is skillfully molded and fitted to the parts under heat, which gives a perfect fit and satisfaction.

Large and difficult ruptures following operations especially solicited.

Do not overlook this opportunity if you want gratifying results. Mailing address: Angola, Indiana. —(Adv.)

Miss Linda Sue Carnett, John Robert Hotuyec Wed at St. Mary's Church

Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Hotuyec

Before an altar beautifully decorated with vases of gladioli and greenery, Miss Linda Sue Carnett, Harrisburg, and John Robert Hotuyec, Joliet, exchanged wedding vows in St. Mary's Catholic church July 3, at a nuptial high mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Helen Evans, 927 West Barnett street, Harrisburg, and of C. L. Carnett, Gary, Ind. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hotuyec, 1224 Nicholson street, Joliet.

Rev. T. G. Bruns, parish priest, officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her stepfather.

She chose for her wedding, a gown of chantilly lace over satin, designed with tight fitting bodice, closed with tiny satin covered buttons. The yoke of lace was covered with tiny seed pearls and rhinestones. The floorlength skirt was fashioned of lace over white satin with a long train. Her veil was of French illusion, attached to a cap of pearls woven into flower design. She carried two bouquets of stephanotis and baby's breath, one of which was placed at the feet of the statue of the Blessed Virgin Mary. She wore a pearl and rhinestone necklace and matching earrings which were a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Dorothy Lelak, Joliet, matron of honor, wore a gown of pastel yellow. The bouffant skirt of yellow net over satin was draped over a hoop and the bodice was off-shoulder. Her bouquet was of orchid gladioli florets.

Miss Janice Wilson, bridesmaid, wore an identical gown and had a matching bouquet.

Joe Lelak, close friend of the bridegroom, served as best man and Richard Carnett, brother of the bride, groomsmen.

Manville Orders Police to Oust His Ninth Wife

NEW YORK (UP)—Police acting on orders from Tommy Manville smashed down a door and drove the multi-millionaire's estranged ninth wife from a shower adjoining his bedroom Thursday night.

Mrs. Manville, who entered the house while her husband was out, managed to get into a pair of lounging pajamas before the officers finished their job, she said.

The Manvilles, who have been battling in and out of court since two days after they were married two years ago, gave different versions of the incident.

Manville said he was amazed to find his wife locked in his room when he returned home from a dinner engagement, and promptly ordered police to batter down the door and get her out.

He said she told him through the locked door that she was going to stay until their second wedding anniversary Saturday.

Mrs. Manville said Manville invited her to the house. She said she brought him a $300 diamond stickpin for "good luck" as an anniversary present.

Senate Group Completes Work on Farm Bill

the committee version of the Senate bill would:

1. Make fluid milk, for the first time, eligible for price supports. Heretofore, the dairy support program has consisted of purchases of cheese, butter, dried milk.

2. Allow the agriculture secretary to support dairy prices by direct subsidy payments, to either producers or processors.

3. Make it mandatory for the agriculture secretary to support prices of oats, barley, rye and sorghum grains. These are now under optional support.

4. Raise the normal carryover of wheat from 15 per cent to 20 per cent of the total crop; raise the corn carryover from 10 per cent to 15 per cent.

5. Repeal corn marketing quotas. This would leave acreage allotments as the only corn production control.

6. Make peaches, pears and citrus fruits eligible for price-fixing federal marketing agreements. This would apply only to that fruit intended for processing.

House Committee Approves Postal Pay Compromise

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Post Office Committee today unanimously approved a compromise bill for a pay raise of at least 5 per cent for the 500,000 postal workers.

The measure, backed by President Eisenhower in a bitter dispute between the administration and postal unions, is expected to be passed by carrier boy.

pave the way for a similar pay boost for the government's one million classified or "white collar" workers.

Before adopting the compromise, the committee agreed to a union-backed plan to give postal workers in the lower brackets a bigger pay raise.

It adopted an amendment by Rep. Harold C. Hagen (R-Minn.) to provide that the pay boost shall be at least $200 a year for all but fourth class postmasters and hourly and part-time workers.

CHOOSING SIDES—Duke Snider, left, of the Dodgers and the Giants' Willie Mays point up the great New York debate by matching hands on a bat. Who is the best center fielder? (NEA)

Giants Double Team Foes With Fine Relief Pitchers

By HARRY GRAYSON

NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — The biggest physical improvement in the Giants, as Garry Schumacher points out, is the phenomenal play of Willie Mays and the pitching of left-handed Johnny Antonelli.

The happy-go-lucky Mays has been an infectious force, restoring team spirit and the feel of winning again. Someone always picks up the slack in the game's crisis. There is a hero a day or night. It's the 1951 drive all over again, but launched much earlier. The secret of the New York Nationals' success, however, has been the double teaming of two air tight relief pitchers who complement one another perfectly. They are, of course, Marv Grissom and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Grissom has been in 18 winning games, Wilhelm 14. Although the 36-year-old Grissom twice stopped the Dodgers in three days, the weather-beaten Californian prefers two days rest even after a short stint.

The rubber-armed Wilhelm can pitch every day, but with Grissom taking his turn, the North Carolinian is rested and his knuckle ball is made all the more effective. Not even Wilhelm knows where his butterfly ball is going. It breaks in all directions including up. It requires Wes Westrum to use a special glove. Even with that the catcher frequently is hit.

Grissom gets them out with a fast one, an excellent curve and a screwball which he has been fooling with for years. The veteran perfected the pitch last fall in Japan, where with nothing at stake he could experiment with complete freedom. He returned with a 7 and 0 record and Leo Durocher was talking about his screwball which breaks away from a left hand batter. In Phoenix last spring, Manager Durocher predicted that he had a sleeper.

Grissom has a funny record. In six years in the minors, he had only one outstanding campaign.

He is an old man with a young man's arm, for he did not pitch

as a kid, was 23 when he broke into organized ball and spent four years in military service.

Grissom is with the Polo Grounders because of Carl Hubbell's friendship with Paul Richards. The old Mead Ticket took in all of the White Sox games at Yankee Stadium, and it was there that Grissom caught the farm director's eye in 1952. Grissom was one of the White Sox pitchers who was not afraid of the vaunted Yankees.

Grissom was traded to the Red Sox and the Giants claimed him when the Boston club requested waivers. It has been a long and arduous haul for Grissom, a brother of Lee, one-time Cincinnati southpaw. Marv has had more downs than ups. There was the summer of 1948, after he had been sold out of the Giants' chain to Sacramento and was a total early season flop.

Out of sheer desperation one night, Manager Joe Orenzo sent in Grissom with the bases loaded, none out and the score tied. The current Marv was fed the better three balls. One more ball and he would have been out of there and on his way, perhaps out of the game for keeps. But he managed to get three strikes past the hitter and fan the next two and end the inning. He went on to win 11 games and be the ace of the staff and was drafted by the Tigers.

Marvin Edward Grissom shut out Curt Simmons and the Phillies, 1-0, in his one start this season, but has indicated preference for fire fighting. He has four times slammed the door in the Dodgers' faces this year. His name must be added to the list of remarkable pitchers who arrived late.

Tennis Tourney Week of July 19

Entries Due July 14; Finals Will Be Played July 25

The first annual Harrisburg city tennis tournament will be held the week of July 19 on the township park courts with finals scheduled for the afternoon of Sunday, July 25. Matches will be in the afternoon and evening.

If there are sufficient entries, there will be the following divisions: Men's and women's singles, junior boys and girls' (13 and under) singles; boys' and girls' (13 and under) doubles. Doubles matches will be held without age limit for boys or men and for girls or women. If there aren't enough entries in some of the singles divisions, they will be combined with another division.

Sponsors are being contacted so that awards can be given for first and second places in each division, with more information on this next week. An entry fee of 50 cents per person for each division entered will be charged to cover the cost of the tourney balls.

Entries should be mailed to Walt Chunn at 129 North Granger street or Jim McKee at 103 North Webster, or they may be phoned to 621-R. The following information should be included: Name, address, telephone number, age, division or divisions to be entered, and indication if one cannot play an afternoon match. Entry fees will be collected before a person plays his first match.

Entries should be in by Wednesday, July 14, so that a committee can make the drawings and matches scheduled.

A's Drive for More Customers Gets Fast Start

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Save-the-A's drive to get 420,000 more customers for the Philadelphia Athletics this season was off to a fast start today with a drug store chain's pledge to buy $50,000 worth of tickets.

The pledge was made by Harry Sytk, president of the chain, at a city hall meeting of 90 civic and business leaders called into session by Mayor Joseph Clark Thursday to give the money-shy Athletics a lift or lose them to another city. Sytk plans to distribute the tickets among customers under a merchandising plan the final week of this month.

K. C. Melikian, a coffee merchant, kept the ball rolling by announcing he would subscribe personally to $2,000 worth of tickets. Fifty members of the committee were assigned to the job of spearheading ticket sales among local groups from headquarters set up in space provided by a department store.

Daniel Michie, Jr., president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, said his organization would spur sales among civic associations.

The quick, early response came after Clark reminded the committee that if the A's find it necessary to leave the city could suffer loss of prestige, tradition and business.

As examples of economic loss, he pointed to the business drop apparently suffered in Boston and St. Louis after the Braves and Browns shifted their franchises to Milwaukee and Baltimore, respectively.

Mays Hits 29th and 30th Homers to Lead Giants in 11-2 Drubbing of Dodgers

By FRED DOWN

United Press Sports Writer

There's a pot of gold awaiting the man who equals Babe Ruth's home run record but wondrous Willie Mays will pass it up for the glory of leading the New York Giants into the World Series.

"I can't hit 60 home runs—no body can," the amazing, 23-year-old center fielder said after going three games ahead of Ruth's record pace with his 29th and 30th round trippers in Thursday's 11-2 rout of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

"Don't even tell me how many I got. I don't wanna know."

"I'm just gonna keep on swinging without worrying about home runs," he continued. "All we care about is winning the pennant."

"Just the greatest player I ever saw," said Giant Manager Leo Durocher in the wake of Mays' spectacular blasting that helped hand the Brooklyn Dodgers their most humiliating setbacks in the post-war period. Ordered out for extra batting practice following Thursday's loss the subdued Dodgers faced the problem of overcoming a 6½-game Giant lead with less than half the season left.

The Giants believe the task will prove to be great for the aging Dodgers. And this much was clear: 1. With 30 homers in 80 games, Mays has a "real chance" to challenge Ruth's mark of 60 homers in 1927. Ruth hit No. 30 that year in his 83rd game on July 12.

2. Giant President Horace Stoneham is prepared to offer Mays a contract for $40,000 to $45,000 next season and expects some day to pay his great star $100,000.

3. The spectacular public response to Mays assured the National League of a successful 1954 season and is creating the greatest interest in major league baseball since the rise of Joe DiMaggio in 1936.

Mays crushed the Dodgers Thursday with his 29th homer that capped a three-run first inning and his 30th that came with two aboard and was the key blow in a four-run seventh. With four homers and nine runs batted in for the three-game sweep in Brooklyn, Mays now boasts a .333 batting average and 72 runs batted in. Willie's can-

Turner's, Jaycees, Deuces Win Games In Kiwanis League

Turner's cafe, the Jaycees and Deuces claimed victories in Kiwanis league play Thursday. The fourth game, featuring the Lions and Karnes Hardware, was called after two innings due to the muddy condition of the field.

Turner's romped to a 2-2½ decision over Sahara, with Biggs the winning hurler and Simpson getting the loss. Biggs, in addition to being the winning pitcher, also paced his team at bat with two hits in four tries.

The Jaycees and Athletic House played just five innings, with the Jaycees winning 13-10. Jones was the winner and Hathaway the loser.

The Deuces were credited with a 9-0 decision over the Cokes.

After two innings of play on a muddy field, with neither team able to score, the Lions and Karnes teams called it quits.

All members of the Kiwanis league are reminded of the baseball school Saturday morning, starting at 9 o'clock.

Thornton and Beckmeyer Win In Vote Recount

CHESTER, Ill. (AP) — Dr. T. J. Thornton of Chester and G. R. Beckmeyer of Nashville today won Republican nominations for state representative in the 44th District from W. J. McDonald of Murphysboro when 669 disputed ballots were included in a recount.

Circuit Judge Edward F. Bareis of East St. Louis ruled that the ballots from Chester Precinct 3 which had marks on them were to be counted in the recount.

McDonald's attorney objected to the ballots during the recount last week but Bareis ruled today the marks were placed on the ballots after the ballot box was opened and ballots examined by election judges.

The recount gave Thornton, an incumbent state representative, 13,860 votes; Beckmeyer, the Nashville merchant who petitioned for the recount, 13,753; and McDonald, also a veteran state legislator,

Former Mayor of West Frankfort Dies

Paul Moore, 62, former mayor of West Frankfort, died suddenly at his home, 302 West Poplar street, West Frankfort, at 1:30 p. m. Thursday. His body lies in state at the Walker funeral home.

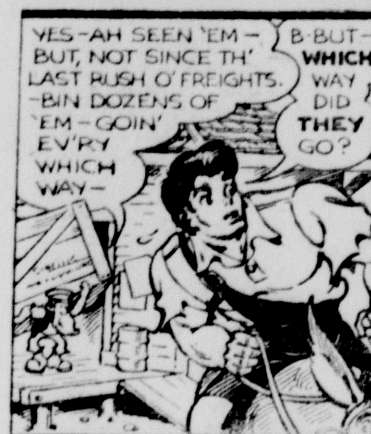

At 20 degrees Fahrenheit, the energy available from an automobile battery is only about 80 per cent of what is available at 40 degrees.

13,638. If the disputed 669 ballots had been thrown out, the recount would have ended in favor of Beckmeyer and McDonald by a very slim margin.

Two election judges from Chester Precinct 3, A. G. Allison and Fred W. Bargman, were in court and Bargman swore on the witness stand there were no marks on the ballots when they were removed from the ballot box.

Unofficial returns of the close April primary race in the 44th District gave the nomination to Thornton and Beckmeyer but the official canvass, which contained an obvious error from a Jackson County precinct, was in favor of Thornton and McDonald. Beckmeyer then petitioned for the recount which was held June 30 and July 1 and 2.

"What's the matter, junior?" Ricky cried mockingly. "Papa say 30 miles an hour or he spunk?"
The kid's face lost its grin. Ricky could see that he was itching to kick the Buick.
"Hey, sister," Ricky yelled at the girl. "Why don't you ditch that and ride in something hot. Or are you his baby sitter?"
The girl looked away.
The kid booted the Buick. It took off fast, but Ricky knew the kid would back off long before he was near peak rpm. He stayed with it, still on the right side, and the burst of speed was a signal for the others to go into action. Link sailed by, his yellow convertible taking off like a jet, and pulled over until he was directly in front of the Roadmaster. Then Jerry moved up until he was inches away on the left side. Chub moved up from the rear, until his front bumper was within a foot or two of the Buick's rear. Sherm trailed, keeping an eye open for cops.
It was a wide street, and they had the kid boxed the way they wanted him. He couldn't slow, speed or turn. All he could do was keep moving, a prisoner, worried stiff that he would dent or scratch the new car. He was scared. Ricky could tell that by the way the kid was hanging on to the wheel. The girl was looking from car to car with big frightened eyes.

Perfect! He didn't know who they were, but he hated them, and he liked watching their fright. He'd show the girl what a squirt her boy friend was. The stuck-up rats.
Link sounded the signal on his goose horn, alerting the others. Ricky grinned, knowing what was coming. A moment later Link hit his brakes. The kid slammed the brakes, the back end of his car threatening to loop-frog over the front end. Then Chub let him have a blast of the horn from behind, and the kid thought Chub was going to ram him. With all their horns blasting at him from every side, he gunned to escape Chub. That was Link's signal to hit his brakes for a fleeting moment, enough to make the kid brake again in panic. Just as it looked as though he would ram Link, sly old Link cracked his gas and jumped out of danger. Ricky dropped back, and with Jerry pressing from the left, the kid went over the curb and bounced to a stop on the parking.

curb. Ricky stopped and jumped out.
"She just up and died," Sherm was saying to the others as Ricky came up.
"What did it sound like?"
"Didn't sound like anything," Sherm said. "Engine never does when it's dead."
"Try to turn her over," Link said.

Rush Emergency Water Pipeline for Mt. Sterling, Ill.

MOUNT STERLING, Ill. (AP) — Some 100 volunteer workmen rushed to complete an eight-mile emergency pipeline to this drought-stricken county seat of 2,500 population before the last of the water supply is used.
There is only 10 to 14 days supply of water left in the city reservoir-lake that once held nearly 100 million gallons of water.
The emergency pipeline was obtained on loan from the Civil Defense Administration when the governor of Illinois declared the village a drought-emergency area. It is being trucked in from Hammond, Ind.
Three Miles Done
The volunteer workers are expected to complete the pipeline from the La Moine River in the next three or four days. They have already laid three miles of pipe and have set the three pumps which will propel the water to Mount Sterling.
Citizens of this and nearby communities have so far donated the labor and equipment for the project. The more than 20 trucks which hauled the pipe 275 miles from Indiana were almost all volunteered or hired by local business firms.
